Horses Injured in Runaway:
Man Who Laid First and Last Stones of Roosevelt Project Employed at Engle.

Special Correspondence to the Herald

Elphant Butte, N. M., June 19.—One of the most startling occurrences in camp lately was the running away of the team of Peas and Beans. These horses started such severe injuries that they were sent to the rest of the week at the Polhamus Hot Springs.

District Engineer W. M. Reed has been in El Paso the past few days. He will spend Sunday with his family here.

Members of the Ladies Aid society will give an ice cream social at the town site next Thursday.

OFFICIAL CALL SENT FOR DRY FARMING CONGRESSOfficers of Sixth Convention of the Kind Send Out Formal Notification of Sessions in Colorado Springs.

The official call for the appointment of delegates to the sixth dry farming congress has been issued. The heads of all nations, the governors of states, the heads of agricultural departments, presidents of agricultural colleges, and improvement societies, and many other persons interested in agriculture or its improvements are invited the privilege of sending delegations to the meetings.

During the past two weeks very considerable progress has been made in the excavation for the dam. On Thursday three floating engines arrived which will be placed on stanch derricks and used on the flume.

Probably the most widely known man about camp who works on the dam is John, the negro tag man on the sandbag derrick of which Mr. King, engineer, said he has a good strong voice and can often be heard a quarter of a mile away calling signals. He placed the first stone and the last stone on the Roosevelt dam and is an expert tag man.

Chic Kitchener has gotten in the switch for the siding which is to run to the state house.

"Mickey" Welch was transferred a couple of days ago to the road to the powder house for the sand stone quarry. He will have it half done by the end of the week.

Josh Taylor has a part of his game making a trial so that strapping up the sandstone can be commenced soon.

Mr. Peter J. Dent, examiner for the United States reclamation service of El Paso, and his wife, were in camp on Thursday and Friday. Mrs. Dent's home was formerly in Toronto, Canada.

Engines Joe A. French and Postmaster Smith of El Paso were visitors in camp on Wednesday and Thursday.

Moses Smith, French and Dent, mention above, stopped on their return from the United States court at Sacramento. Mr. Dent was attorney for the United States reclamation service in both cases.

The case of the United States reclamation service vs. the Valencia Land and Cattle company was out of routine. The company had accepted the award of the commissioners appointed to appraise the 25,000 acres of land desired. This was practically $25,000.

The second case was appeal of Gregorio Gonzales. The sum of $1,500 was awarded him. By taking it to trial he secured a verdict of $10,000 damages at $2,500.

It was expected that a game of horse ball would be played here on July 4, but Las Polomas is going to have a re-dedication and the folks say that Elephant Butte will play a team from Marfa. Winners普将 go to the grand finale and some roping contests.

"Mickey" Welch of this camp claims he is going to run Mr. Maxwell of Las Polomas in a 50-yard dash.

A team and track was recently sent from here to Assistant Engineer Shibley at Las Cruces.

In the tennis tournament the team of which Mr. MacIntyre is captain is in the lead.

M., and discussed the matter of irrigation under government regulations approved May 31st, 1910. The result of the meeting was the forming of the Tularosa half of the Sacramento Reclamation association. The total expense of the sending of a man to Washington is placed at $250 and Alamogordo and Tularosa are to share equally in the matter.

Mr. J. J. Dale and Dr. J. B. Howell returned from Alto, N. M., where they have been transacting business. They are engaged in the work of the reclamation association.
